TOSSUPS

1. At the end of this film, it is revealed that one character's real name is Linda. Earlier in the film, that character states that "men are always taking credit for the ideas of women." The lead actor in this movie claimed that it would "Fight Trump and Make Young People 'Adopt Progressive Values.' " A YouTube creator called (*) jacksfilms received a free invitation to the premiere of this movie for being "the #1 fan."This movie starred T. J. Miller, Anna Faris, and Patrick Stewart, who play the characters Gene, Jailbreak, and Poop, respectively. For 10 points, name this 2017 Sony Pictures Animation movie which takes place inside a phone and follows a group of the titular digital faces, which received an impressive score of 8% on Rotten Tomatoes.
ANSWER: The Emoji Movie

2. This artist was under suspicion of bribery after offering voters a limited edition piece of art if they voted against the Conservative party in the 2017 UK general election. In September 2017, this artist released two new pieces of art ahead of the reveal of a major Jean-Michel Basquiat exhibition in central London. In response to abysmal conditions in migrant camps in (*) Calais, this artist created a mural depicting a young girl from the film Les Miserables in tears due to tear gas. In 2015, this artist created a "family park unsuitable for children" dubbed Dismaland. For 10 points, name this prolific British graffiti artist who famously created the documentary Exit Through The Gift Shop.
ANSWER: Banksy

3. International tournaments involving this game can be judged either on total number of points or on number of perfects scored during one cycle. Starting in the MAX edition, this game included a "groove bar," which took into consideration the density of steps when assessing difficulty. First released in 1998, this arcade game produced by Konami features a (*) raised black platform with two handlebars on the opposing side of a large central screen. Off-brand versions of this arcade game include Pump It Up and In The Groove. For 10 points, name this game, in which the player attempts to hit up, down, left, and right arrows with their feet to the tune of upbeat music.
ANSWER: D*ance* D*ance* R*evolution* [or Dansu Dansu Reboryūshon]

4. This player was known as the "best player without a major" until he won the 2004 Masters. He later went on to win the Masters again in 2006 and 2010. This man also lost to Justin Rose after seeing his daughter's graduation in California the night before a (*) 7 AM tee time. He has won five total Major championships, including the 2005 PGA Championship and the 2013 Open Championship. However, the U.S. Open Championship has impeded his pursuit of the career Grand Slam, as he has finished second at the tournament a record six times. For 10 points, name this popular golfer, nicknamed Lefty.
ANSWER: Phil Mickelson [prompt on Lefty before mentioned]

5. One person with this last name is married to the man succeeded by Archie Miller as the head coach of the Indiana Hoosiers men's basketball team, Tom Crean. Another person with this last name is known for wearing pleated khakis on the sideline. Two people with this last name have faced each other twice; once on Thanksgiving 2011 and once in (*) Super Bowl XLVII ["forty-seven"]. One of those men won two playoff games with rookie quarterback Joe Flacco in his first season as head coach of the Baltimore Ravens. The other turned around the San Francisco 49ers but lost the aforementioned games to his brother. For 10 points, give the last name of siblings Joani, John, and Jim, the last of whom is the current coach of the Michigan Wolverines.
ANSWER: Harbaugh

6. This artist's music video debut features the artist getting a pedicure. This artist's first television debut was in the sixth season of the VH1 show Love and Hip-Hop: New York. In this artist's youth, this Bronx-based rapper worked as a stripper to escape domestic abuse. The single letter in this artist's name is said to be a shortened version of (*) "Bacardi." In this rapper's breakout song, which was released by Atlantic Records in June 2017, she states that her Louboutin shoes are "red bottoms, these is bloody shoes." For 10 points, name this female rapper who recently took number one on the Billboard charts from Taylor Swift with her song "Bodak Yellow."
ANSWER: Cardi B [or Belcalis Almanzar]

7. At the end of 2016, this was Google's most searched video game. There are three control methods in this game: classic, joystick, and arrow. Twelve skins are available, some portraying the colors of flags, and some skins even promote notable Youtubers such as (*) "PewDiePie." One strategy in this game is to form a loop around an enemy, causing them to crash into you. By using the spacebar or left-clicking, players can activate "boost mode" in this game, causing the player to speed up and expel bright pellets. For 10 points, name this game in which players aim to make other players collide into them, reminiscent of the classic game Snake.
ANSWER: slither.io [period does not need to be said]

8. Ronald Reagan was the first president not to be affected by this theoretical phenomenon. This idea was first documented in the 1931 book, Ripley's Believe It or Not!. Although George W. Bush survived his two terms in office despite this factor, he did almost choke on a pretzel in 2002. This theory's name is derived from an 1811 (*) battle where William Henry Harrison used questionable tactics for treaty negotiation, though it is alternatively named for a Shawnee Indian leader. For 10 points, name this theory used to describe the regular death in office of United States' presidents who are elected or re-elected in years divisible by twenty, beginning with William Henry Harrison and ending with John F. Kennedy.
ANSWER: Curse of Tippecanoe [or Tecumseh's Curse]

9. This man once claimed that people living in rural Ohio or Indiana were bringing unemployment upon themselves. He wanted Will Arnett to play him in a sitcom he was developing with CBS in 2011, but CBS wisely passed. This man was roommates with Coach Jim McElwain at (*) Eastern Washington University. In 2007 this man led an attack on the blog The Big Lead, shutting it down temporarily. This man was one of the original hosts of ESPN's SportsNation. For 10 points, name this former ESPN, now Fox Sports talking head, who hosts The Herd and shares his surname with a group of bovine creatures.
ANSWER: Colin Cowherd

10. The Chords did a cover of the song "Sh-Boom" for this movie's soundtrack. The opening monologue of this movie begins with a character declaring, "One winner. Forty-two losers. I eat losers for breakfast." Later, that same character has to work with Bessie to fix torn-up concrete. The Magliozzi brothers voiced twin characters who advertise an (*) anti-rust product in this movie, which also features a character named "The King" who is sponsored by Dinoco. Another character is marketed as "The Fabulous" Hudson Hornet before a career-ending crash. For 10 points, name this movie, which stars Larry the Cable Guy as Mater and Owen Wilson as Lightning McQueen.
ANSWER: Cars

11. One of these entities began as a joke but as of September 2017 has a market cap of over $200 million. The community behind that entity has raised money to fund the Jamaican bobsled team for the Sochi Olympics, and also raised enough money to get their mascot, a (*) Shiba Inu, onto the car of NASCAR driver Josh Wise. These entities are "mined" by computers, and designed to eventually reach a cap of them in circulation, similar to precious metals. For 10 points, name these digital assets whose value is secured by cryptography, examples of which include Bitcoin and Dogecoin.
ANSWER: cryptocurrency [prompt on specific ones before mentioned]

12. One platform from this country has a name that means "treasure-seeking" and is a wholly owned subsidiary of Alibaba. Another platform from this country has a paw print as its logo and a name that means a "hundred times." One company from this country owns the instant messaging service QQ and the social media platform WeChat. All of those platforms have (*) censorship problems expanding beyond this country; those policies have sometimes been called "The Great Firewall of" this country. For 10 points, name this country that headquarters Taobao, Baidu, and Tencent.
ANSWER: People's Republic of China [or Zhongguo]

13. Minor characters in this series include the undead dinosaur Sue, the sentient island Shagnasty, and Santa Claus. A bartender in this series insists that his homebrew beer must never be served cold. The second book in this series features four different kinds of (*) werewolves. The protagonist of this series owns a cat named Mister, a dog named Mouse, and a talking skull named Bob. This series of urban fantasy novels includes villains like the archdemon Nicodemus, sex vampires, and warlocks, who are wizards gone bad. For 10 points, name this series of novels by Jim Butcher named for the wizard detective Harry.
ANSWER: The Dresden Files

14. This team was known as the "Hitless Wonders" after defeating the Cubs to win the 1906 World Series. Bobby Thigpen saved a then-record fifty-seven games while pitching for this team, who also won their division in 2000 thanks to Magglio Ordonez and Frank Thomas. Judge Landis banned eight members of this team for (*) intentionally losing the 1919 World Series. This team formerly played in Comiskey Park, and this team traded its ace Chris Sale to the Red Sox last season in exchange for multiple prospects, intending to rebuild. For 10 points, name this team, who now plays at Guaranteed Rate Field, while their in-city rivals play at Wrigley Field.
ANSWER: Chicago White Sox

15. This director controversially expressed his annoyance at those who suggested that there was a link between the depictions of violence in movies and the Sandy Hook school shooting. This director is engaged to Israeli singer Daniella Pick, whom he met in 2009 when he was in Israel promoting one of his movies. That movie tells of a fictional alternate history that tells of two plots to assassinate (*) Nazi leaders. This director is notorious for including extremely graphic depictions of gore and violence in his movies, even saying that "violence is one of the most fun things to watch." Another one of his most famous works is a series of "revenge flicks" that blends together various elements from different genres including kung fu, blaxploitation, and spaghetti westerns. For 10 points, name this director of Kill Bill and Pulp Fiction.
ANSWER: Quentin Tarantino

16. The trailer for Alien: Covenant features this song, which is sung by a female voice in a transmission picked up by the crew of a spaceship. This song was both played instrumentally and also sung by Merlin as he sacrificed himself to save Harry and Eggsy in Kingsman: The Golden Circle. Despite the (*) Blue Ridge Mountains and Shenandoah River not being primarily in the state featured in this song, it was played at the end of the funeral of Senator Robert Byrd. This song is played at the pregame show of every Mountaineers home game. For 10 points, name this country song about West Virginia by John Denver.
ANSWER: "Take Me Home, Country Roads"

17. Hip hop duo Das Racist has a song where they repeat that they are at the Pizza Hut and this place on Jamaica Street, titled "Combination Pizza Hut and [this place]". That is likely because this place and Pizza Hut are both owned by (*) Yum! Brands. In 2015, this place added breakfast and ran ads where they hired people named Ronald McDonald to say they preferred their food. This place is the home of Baja Blast Mountain Dew. This place also offers a version of its namesake product with a shell made of Doritos. For 10 points, name this low-budget restaurant that offers dishes like the A.M. Crunchwrap and the Gordita Supreme.
ANSWER: Taco Bell

18. One character in this movie explains how he outgrew a pair of rollerblades, to which another character responds, "A person's heart and feelings are very different than skates." Those two characters share a pair of ceramic turtle doves, which were originally given to the protagonist by Mr. Duncan. A character in a movie within this movie shoots a gun erratically and then says (*) "Merry Christmas, ya filthy animal." Two characters label themselves "The Sticky Bandits" and try to swindle an eight year-old child, who is being frantically searched for by his parents, who are in Miami instead of the title city. For 10 points, this movie, directed by John Hughes, where Kevin McCallister boards the wrong plane and runs through Central Park to escape Harry and Marv.
ANSWER: Home Alone 2*: *Lost in New York

19. A knee injury sidelined this athlete for a season with the Arizona Wildcats, but he later helped the Wildcat's 1988 squad reach the Final Four. This athlete also made the game-winning shot in the last game of the 1997 Finals via a pass from John Stockton-guarded Michael Jordan. This former General Manager of the (*) Phoenix Suns arguably slowed down Steve Nash by acquiring Shaquille O'Neal. This man is the most accurate three-point shooter in NBA history, but one of his current players might break that record. For 10 points, name this NBA coach who despite being limited by severe back pain in the last two years, managed to return for the 2017 NBA Finals.
ANSWER: Steve Douglas Kerr

20. This man appeared as an intern named Ed on Scrubs before being fired for failing to actually study. In one of this man's roles, he flies to Nashville with a woman for a first date, but they fail to return in time to New York City for her niece's recital. In another of this man's roles, he takes one of his superiors' ex-wives on a date but ends up being beaten by her in that episode; that date is named (*) Tammy. This man has won the last two Emmy awards for Outstanding Writing for a Comedy Series; the first was with Alan Yang, the second was with Lena Waithe, and both were for a series in which he also starred, Master of None. For 10 points, name this American actor, best known for his role as Tom Haverford in Parks and Recreation.
ANSWER: Aziz Ansari

[TIE-BREAKER]: The most recent runners-up for this honor were on the same team, the Philadelphia 76ers. The most recent winner of this award was the first 2nd-round and lowest draft pick in the lottery era to win after being drafted 36th overall by the Milwaukee Bucks from the University of Virginia. That player is Malcolm Brogdon, who won over Dario Saric and Joel Embiid. After breaking his kneecap in preseason, Blake (*) Griffin won this award the following season in 2010-2011. The Minnesota Timberwolves had back-to-back winners of this award in Andrew Wiggins and Karl-Anthony Towns. For 10 points, name this award, given to the best player in his first season in a certain baseball league
ANSWER: NBA Rookie of the Year

BONUSES:

1. The Earth is a big place, and many famous people think so, too. For 10 points each:
[10] In 2009, BBC Comic Relief sponsored a charity climb of this tallest mountain in Africa with nine celebrities. A year later, Jessica Biel also reached this summit.
ANSWER: Mt. Kilimanjaro
[10] In contrast, the lowest point on Earth is known as Challenger Deep, located in this trench named for the nearby island group which includes Guam.
ANSWER: Marianas Trench
[10] In 2012, this film director of The Abyss, The Dive, and Aliens of the Deep broke the record for the deepest solo submarine descent when he entered into Challenger Deep.
ANSWER: James Cameron

2. Name these barriers for human achievement which have been challenged or broken in running events, for 10 points each:
[10] Eliud Kipchoge came within 25 seconds of breaking this mark in May of 2017. Nike supported the effort and the course was a formula one race track in Monza, Italy. However, Kipchoge's time was not a world record because the course and pacers used were not compliant with record criteria.
ANSWER: two-hour marathon [prompt on partial answer]
[10] Roger Bannister beat this threshold in England in 1954, running on average about 22 feet per second.
ANSWER: four-minute mile [prompt on partial answer]
[10] Usain Bolt's current world record is well below this threshold. It was first broken in 1968, and Jim Hines was the first to break it while being electronically timed. Kim Collins is the oldest man to break this barrier at 40 years old.
ANSWER: ten-second 100 meter [prompt on partial answer]

3. A quartet of these animals became so famous in their minor role in a 2005 movie that a spin-off was created. For 10 points each:
[10] Identify this type of bird, examples of which include Skipper, Kowalski, Rico and Private in a 2014 spin-off of the Madagascar franchise.
ANSWER: penguins
[10] This actor provided the voice for Classified, a grey wolf in The Penguins of Madagascar. This man notably had trouble saying the word "penguins" for the BBC Two documentary South Pacific, instead saying "pingwings" and "penglings."
ANSWER: Benedict Cumberbatch
[10] This 2007 Sony Pictures Animation film also features penguins. It is unique in that it is made in the style of a mockumentary about the titular sport..
ANSWER: Surf's Up

4. These rock bands have all deservedly been inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame. For 10 points each:
[10] This band has replaced its late lead singer first with Paul Rodgers, and then with Adam Lambert. Some of its well-known songs include "Somebody to Love" and "Another One Bites the Dust."
ANSWER: Queen
[10] Malcolm Young retired permanently due to dementia from this band; he was replaced by his nephew Stevie. Malcolm's brother Angus is known for his version of Chuck Berry's duck walk while playing "Thunderstruck."
ANSWER: AC/DC
[10] "Fortunate Son" by this band inducted in 1993 came to represent counterculture opposition to the Vietnam War.
ANSWER: Creedence Clearwater Revival

5. Answer some questions about superhero memes, for 10 points each:
[10] One common meme is based around screenshots from this superhero's 1960's cartoon. One famous one depicts him sitting at a desk with a picture of himself on the wall behind him.
ANSWER: Spider-Man
[10] This Batman villain spawned memes with lines like "You're a big guy" and "For you."
ANSWER: Bane [accept Baneposting]
[10] This other Batman villain is often seen complaining about how when he does one thing "nobody bats an eye," but when he does another thing "everyone loses their minds."
ANSWER: The Joker

6. If you liked answering about animal names before, you're in luck! Name the following terms for collective groups of animals, for 10 points each:
[10] Though not a troop or a sault, this is the most common term for a group of lions.
ANSWER: pride
[10] Like most equids, a group of these animals can be called a herd. However, other terms are also used are a cohort, a zeal, and a dazzle, perhaps because of the brilliant display of black and white.
ANSWER: zebras
[10] A group of these animals can be called a brood, a bloom, a fluther, or a smack.
ANSWER: jellyfish

7. Name these former Heisman trophy winners, for 10 points each:
[10] This 2014 winner led Oregon to the National Championship Game in the 1st Annual College Football Playoff where he lost to THE Ohio State University.
ANSWER: Marcus Ardel Taulauniu Mariota
[10] This 2007 winner led the University of Florida Gators and was drafted by the Denver Broncos. He currently plays baseball for the St. Lucie Mets, a minor league team of the New York Mets.
ANSWER: Timothy Richard Tebow
[10] This 1997 winner from the University of Michigan was considered a "two-way player" and finished ahead of Peyton Manning from the University of Tennessee. He is the first and only primarily defensive player to win the Heisman.
ANSWER: Charles Cameron Woodson

8. Give the following information about tragedies in the tech industry, for 10 points each:
[10] Facebook attempted to promote a phone by this Taiwanese company loaded with Facebook Home; the phone bombed and only sold 15,000 units.
ANSWER: HTC
[10] Amazon developed this phone with an operating system of the same name, but discontinued it in 2015 due to poor sales—presumably no one wanted a phone only for shopping.
ANSWER: Fire Phone
[10] This company once produced handsets popular with businesspeople, but has recently seen significant loss in market share due to the unpopularity of its devices in many markets. It is named for a type of fruit.
ANSWER: Blackberry

9. Answer some questions about a rock duo with a memetic song, for 10 points each:
[10] This song, often used in videos when something goes suddenly wrong, begins with the lyrics "Hello darkness my old friend."
ANSWER: "Sounds of Silence"
[10] "Sounds of Silence" is by this folk rock duo who played a famous concert at Central Park.
ANSWER: Simon and Garfunkel
[10] Simon and Garfunkel are also famous for the hit "Mrs. Robinson," which is from this Oscar-winning movie about a young man seduced by an older woman.
ANSWER: The Graduate

10. Name these characters who are featured in games, for 10 points each:
[10] This character is added onto titles with the word "and" as a meme. You could attach his game to Sonic the Hedgehog 3 to unlock him as a playable character.
ANSWER: Knuckles
[10] Shin Megami Tensei: Lucifer's Call featured this character from the Devil May Cry series, and this character was mocked for how small of a role he played in the game. He aptly shares his name with an early Renaissance author who wrote about a descent into hell.
ANSWER: Dante
[10] Tekken 7 features this character from Street Fighter. He's traditionally a secret character and is somewhat of a glass cannon.
ANSWER: Akuma

11. Long before DVRs, people recorded programs they wanted to watch on VHS tapes, instead of this medium. For 10 points each:
[10] This Sony-backed format failed because even though it had higher quality than VHS, its shorter recording time and higher price made it less appealing to consumers.
ANSWER: Betamax
[10] Like Betamax, this storage format lost a format war to be the successor to DVDs. This format was primarily backed by Toshiba and could be played by an add-on to Xbox 360s.
ANSWER: HD DVD [do not accept or prompt on DVD]
[10] This winning format, played then by Sony's PlayStation 3, is so named for the color of the 405 nanometer laser used to read and write on these discs.
ANSWER: Blu-ray

12. Answer the following about the 4th installment of a series involving islands populated by dinosaurs, for 10 points each:
[10] This movie starring Chris Pratt as Owen and Bryce Dallas Howard as Claire takes place in a namesake new theme park.
ANSWER: Jurassic World [do not accept or prompt on Jurassic Park]
[10] GMOs are bad, and this main antagonist dinosaur proves it. This dinosaur is part T-Rex, part raptor, part tree frog, and part cuttlefish.
ANSWER: Indominus Rex
[10] Jurassic World features this enormous marine dinosaur who lives in the park's lagoon. The movie's extraordinary triple cop-out ending features this dinosaur eating the Indominus Rex.
ANSWER: Mosasaurus

13. Answer the following about strangely popular egg-shaped toys, for 10 points each:
[10] Name these egg shaped digital pet toys released by Bandai in 1996. They have three buttons along the bottom.
ANSWER: Tamagotchi Toys
[10] Bandai is a toy company from this country. Its headquarters is located in the Taito special ward of this country's capital city.
ANSWER: Japan
[10] When a pet dies, the player has the option to start over by pressing these two buttons.
ANSWER: A and C

14. Answering the following about being "Mr. Irrelevant," for 10 points each:
[10] Being "Mr. Irrelevant" means that a player in this sport is picked last in its annual draft.
ANSWER: American football [or NFL]
[10] "Irrelevant Week" is celebrated in Newport Beach, California where the "Mr. Irrelevant" receives this award, a mimic of the Heisman trophy but depicts a player fumbling a football.
ANSWER: Lowsman Trophy
[10] "Mr. Irrelevant" and "Irrelevant Week" were created by this man in 1976. He was a former University of Southern California receiver. A namesake rule was coined in his name after both the Los Angeles Rams and Pittsburgh Steelers were passing to get the last pick in the 1979 NFL draft.
ANSWER: Paul Salata

15. Do you know what's on your U.S. currency? For 10 points each:
[10] The dime depicts this president on its heads side. A conspiracy surrounding this president suggests that he knew about Pearl Harbor before it happened.
ANSWER: Franklin Delano Roosevelt [or FDR; prompt on Roosevelt]
[10] This bill, when folded in a particular way, supposedly transforms the White House that is normally depicted on the back of this bill into the World Trade Center falling down.
ANSWER: $20 bill
[10] The $10,000 bill was the highest denomination bill ever released as legal tender in 1878, depicting this man. On a much more commonly used bill, this man is bordered to the left by a watermark blue eagle.
ANSWER: Andrew Jackson

16. Answer the following about pasta in pop culture, for 10 points each:
[10] Canned ravioli was first idealized by this brand. Contrary to popular vernacular, this brand has an emphasis on the second syllable as opposed to the first.
ANSWER: Chef Boyardee
[10] A well-known scene in this Disney animated film involves two namesake dogs slurping a single piece of spaghetti from two ends, leading to an accidental kiss.
ANSWER: Lady and the Tramp
[10] Spaghetti also makes an appearance in the Nickelodeon TV series iCarly, in which this guardian of Carly invents the revolutionary dish spaghetti tacos.
ANSWER: Spencer Shay

17. Name these songs by Logic, for 10 points each:
[10] This title track of Logic's 2017 album says, "I was gone for a minute but I'm back now." The track also claims that the title group "know, how it go."
ANSWER: "Everybody"
[10] Logic's most popular song, which is most-played on Spotify, is this track on suicide prevention. It was performed at the 2017 VMAs and features Alessia Cara and Khalid.
ANSWER: "1-800-273-8255"
[10] Logic's second album, The Incredible True Story, includes this anthem that samples "Deck the Halls" by The Singers Unlimited. It claims, "They gon' know my name until it" performs the title action.
ANSWER: "Fade Away"

18. This man voiced Batman in both The Lego Movie and The Lego Batman Movie, for 10 points each:
[10] In Arrested Development, this man played Gob [JOBE] Bluth.
ANSWER: Will Arnett
[10] Arnett's ex-wife starred as this government official in Pawnee, Indiana in Parks and Recreation.
ANSWER: Leslie Knope ["NOPE"]
[10] Knope's immediate superior in the early seasons of Parks and Rec, Ron Swanson, was played by this actor and real-life carpenter.
ANSWER: Nick Offerman

19. Name these NBA players that have never won a championship ring, for 10 points each:
[10] This Syracuse product was drafted by the Denver Nuggets and is currently with the New York Knicks. He is one of three current league players that have a no-trade clause in their contract.
ANSWER: Carmelo Kyam Anthony
[10] This player is currently the oldest active NBA player in the league, playing last season for the Memphis Grizzlies and will be playing for the Sacramento Kings in the upcoming 2017-2018 season.
ANSWER: Vince Carter [prompt on Vinsanity, Air Canada, or Half-Man, Half-Amazing]
[10] This Pacers player was known for his precise three point shooting, which was displayed when he scored 8 points in 8.9 seconds, leading to a Pacers win over the New York Knicks in Game 1 of the 1995 Eastern Conference Semifinals.
ANSWER: Reggie Miller [prompt on Knick Killer]

20. You think you know stupid conspiracy theories? Try these, for 10 points each:
[10] When plumbing problems caused Walmarts in Florida, Texas, Oklahoma, and California to close, people realized that Walmarts were being turned into these entities. Sheeple think that it was just to stop striking workers.
ANSWER: FEMA Prison Camps
[10] Politicians can be extraordinarily bold in the design on their campaign logos. This "crooked" politician's logo references 9/11.
ANSWER: Hillary Clinton
[10] The Satanic-Communist takeover of the U.S.A. is predicted by this song. This 8-minute, 33-second Don McLean song was from his album of the same name.
ANSWER: "American Pie"