

This Tournament Goes To Eleven III: Smell The Glove

Hosted by the University of Iowa, October 12-13, 2001

The A/V Club Packet (by Matt Larson[Iowa])

Rules: Welcome to the A/V Club packet - audio sounds for a video age. Each toss-up will consist of a clip from a movie, followed by a giveaway clue. Your job is to, at the very least, identify the movie. If you do this correctly, you will earn 5 points and a bonus for your team. Furthermore, if you ring in during the audio clip, you may earn 5 bonus points for naming the actor or actress and another 5 for naming the character. You are not required to give this information. You may also give just one piece of bonus information, if you wish. However, if you attempt to give more than just the title of the movie, and any answer of the group is wrong, it's a neg 5. Bonus questions will be fairly conventional.

Unless stated otherwise...on tossups, in the case of more than one character speaking, you must identify the actor or character who speaks first for the bonus points. Also, in most cases, either the first or last name of a character is acceptable.

Last, and probably least - you won't receive points for supplying the name of a title character on a toss-up.

Baseball (by Joel Gluskin [Washington University, St. Louis])

1. In the 1960's, he said "The only thing worse than a Mets game is a Mets doubleheader." He played outfield for five different teams from 1912-1925, but he is better known for his managerial career, which started in 1934 with the Brooklyn Dodgers. After a stop in Boston, he went to the Yankees for 12 years in which he won 7 World Series. The last team he managed was the New York Mets from 1962-1965. FTP, identify this man, who also said "There comes a time in every man's life, and I've had plenty of them."

Casey Stengel

2. For the first game of his new T-Ball League, the Capitol City Rockies faced off against the Satchel Paige Memphis Red Sox. Bleachers were trucked in from Williamsport, PA, the site of the Little League World Series, and Bob Costas did live play-by-play. To begin the game, he placed the first ball on the tee and after the game, all of the players received autographed baseballs from him. FTP, identify this man who in April 2001, brought baseball to the South Lawn.

President George W. Bush (Prompt until they give you a W.)

3. In 1965, he pitched a three-hitter in the World Series on two days rest. This win gave his team a second World Series title in three years, and he was named World Series MVP. He actually won 4 World Series in his career and was named to 6 All Star Teams. His .655 winning percentage ranks 11th of all time, but his 165 wins don't even rank in the top 100. FTP, identify this Dodger, probably most famous for being Jewish and refusing to pitch on Yom Kippur.

Sandy Koufax

4. This movie was one of Rene Russo's early works before her career took off. In it, she played the ex-girlfriend of an old baseball player, who had to fight to make the team in Spring Training. During Spring Training, the ballplayer met a rookie pitcher, who wound up entering the field with the crowd singing "Wild Thing". Known for classic lines, such as "Just a bit outside", it starred Bob Uecker, Dennis Haysbert, Corbin Bernsen, Charlie Sheen, and Tom Berenger. FTP, identify this classic baseball movie, made in 1989, that now has two sequels.

Major League

5. On April 14, 1910, Walter Johnson threw an Opening Day one-hitter as his team won the game over the A's 3-0. However, that game is more famous because it is the first time that a President threw out the first pitch on Opening Day. This President converted the White House stables into a garage and then had a special bathtub installed for himself. FTP, identify this man, the 27th President, who served from 1909-1913.

President William H. Taft

6. This country won the Olympic Gold Medal in baseball in 1984, and won the silver in 1988. In 1996, they lost to the US in the preliminary round 15-5, but went on to beat the US in the semifinals 11-2. They went on to win the silver medal after losing in the Gold Medal Game to Cuba. Every other year, the United States sends a team of All-Stars to tour this country. FTP, identify this country, home to teams such as the Seibu Lions, and home of the 2001 Little League World Series Champions.

Japan

7. He was born in Chicago, Illinois and attended Triton Junior College. He was the 3rd player drafted in the June, 1982 draft and only played 224 minor league games before being called up to the major leagues. May 8, 1984 was his first game and he became only the 9th player ever to record four hits in his first game. 10 All-Star Appearances, 2 World Series titles, and 2,304 hits later, he was forced to retire when he woke up during Spring Training of 1996 with glaucoma. FTP, identify this third youngest living electee to the Hall of Fame in 2001.

Kirby Puckett

8. This formula was developed by Bill James of STATS, Inc. and is used to calculate a team's expected winning percentage. Over time, it has been proven to be a very accurate measure of the actual winning percentage over the course of a season. It is calculated by taking runs scored squared and then dividing by the sum of runs scored squared and runs allowed squared. FTP, identify this formula, a derivative from math and whose name is derived from a famous geometry theorem.

The Pythagorean Theorem of Baseball (Prompt on Pythagorean Theorem)

9. This columnist, who writes articles for the Washington Post as well as Newsweek, has a real passion that lies with baseball. He has served on the Commissioner's Blue Ribbon Panel on Baseball Economics, which recommended changes in baseball's economic structure in order to reduce baseball's revenue disparity. FTP, identify this man, who has written books such as "Men At Work."

George Will

10. He had a .242 career batting average; not bad, considering that it ranks 45th all time among pitchers. He played for 8 different teams in a 14 year career that lasted from 1953 to 1967. He won 5 World Series titles, 4 with the Yankees and 1 with the Giants, but he is best known for his heroics in Game 5 of the 1956 World Series. FTP, identify this man, the only person to ever throw a perfect game in the World Series.

Don Larsen

11. In 1991, a 55 ton block collapsed in this stadium on September 13. The home team had to play the rest of their home games on the road, but that didn't really matter because they were already in last place. However, by the strike shortened 1994 season, they had moved all the way up to first place in the NL East. FTP, identify this stadium, one of two in Canada, and home to the team that has now gotten rid of Larry Walker and Pedro Martinez.

Olympic Stadium

12. When the Chicago Cubs drafted Mark Prior of USC with the 2nd pick in the 2001 draft, there was talk of him going straight to the majors, something only 19 other players have done since the draft began in 1965. The last player to do so who went to a college in the Pacific 10 went to Washington State University and began his career in 1989 with the Toronto Blue Jays. More recently, he played with the New York Mets and now plays with the Seattle Mariners. FTP, identify this first baseman, who is known for wearing a batting helmet in the field.

John Olerud

13. This state, the 16th state to be admitted into the Union, had more Civil War battles take place there than any other state, except for Virginia. It has produced 3 presidents, and the first Constitution drafted in America by white men was written near Elizabethton. The oldest incorporated town is Jonesborough, while Trade is the oldest town. FTP, identify this state, where in Tallahoma, Rawlings produces cowhide covers for baseball, and home to a relocated NBA team from Vancouver.

Tennessee

14. Bill Veeck was known for his outrageous stunts, but the wildest may have occurred on August 19, 1951. This 65 lb baseball player made his only career plate appearance, drawing a walk on four pitches for the St. Louis Browns. He wore number 1/8 and was paid $100 for his pinch-hit at-bat for Frank Saucier in the bottom of the first inning. FTP, identify this 3'8" baseball player, the shortest man to ever don a Major League uniform.

Eddie Gaedel

15. This man is the Sterling Professor Emeritus at Yale University. A physicist, who published a famous article on weak electromagnetic fields, he is also famous for his work in the field of baseball. He was once the official physicist of the National League and he claims that the current baseballs are not wound any tighter than older ones. FTP, identify this author of "The Physics of Baseball".

Robert Adair

16. Kirby Puckett made the Hall of Fame in 2001, becoming the second Hall of Famer to be hit by a pitch in his last at-bat. The other was a former member of the Philadelphia A's as well as the Detroit Tigers from 1925-1937. He made the postseason 5 times and was elected to the All-Star team twice, although he only played in the game once. FTP, identify this catcher who died in 1962, who is better known by his nickname than his given name, Gordon.

Mickey Cochrane

17. His first baseball broadcast came in 1974, when he teamed with Monte Moore to broadcast games for the Oakland A's. Since then he's also broadcasted hockey, soccer, and basketball, and was the official broadcaster of University of San Francisco basketball from 1975-1980. In 1986 he was named "Baltimore's Best Radio Sportscaster" by Baltimore Magazine. FTP, identify this radio voice of the San Francisco Giants and the play-by-play voice of ESPN's Sunday Night Baseball.

Jon Miller

18. The career record for this statistic was first set by Johnny Ryan from 1876-1877 with 23. From 1895 to 1926, Tom Brown held the record with 708, before Babe Ruth eclipsed him with 1330. Since then, Ruth has been passed by Mickey Mantle, Willie Stargell, and Reggie Jackson, who now holds the record with 2597. FTP, identify this statistic, denoted in a scorebook by the letter K.

Strikeout

19. He was born September 7, 1954 in Portland, Oregon, but he has since moved to Bridgeport, Connecticut. In 1984, he came to the American League after previously umpiring in the International League, Florida State League, and several others. FTP, identify this man, the current head of baseball's umpire union, who led the current union's charge to remove Richie Phillips as the previous head of the umpires.

John Hirschbeck

20. He was appointed United States District Judge for the Northern District of Illinois by Teddy Roosevelt in 1906, a post he held when elected to a position within the game of baseball. In 1914, he presided over the Federal League's injunction suit against the Major Leagues, which made him a prime choice for commissioner. FTP, identify this man, elected the first commissioner of Major League Baseball on January 12, 1921.

Judge Kennesaw Mountain Landis

END ROUND

21. He recently completed a book, Feeding the Green Monster, and runs a web page dedicated to the Kansas City Royals. In addition, he writes a monthly column for The Grand Salami, a magazine given away outside Safeco Field in Seattle. However, he is probably best known for his work for ESPN.com, where he writes a daily baseball column. FTP, identify this one time employee of Bill James and STATS, Inc., which isn't surprising because he incorporates statistics into his daily columns.

Rob Neyer

22. It is the number 1 prescribed antihistamine since 1994. One of its key marketing slogans is that you only have to take one pill a day and is used to treat seasonal allergy symptoms. Produced by Schering Corporation, the side effects from the tablet occurred just about as often as from a sugar pill. FTP, identify this antihistamine, which sponsored the 2001 All-Star Workout Day and which is offering a chance to win tickets to the 2001 World Series on its website.
